

ONSITE PROGRAMME

Planetary Health and Sustainability in the Tropics

Period	1 July to 28 July 2025	Entry requirements	Upper Intermediate English (CEFR B2 equivalent) or Native speaker
Duration	4 weeks	Course Fee	RM 11,000.00 (approx. USD 2,850)
Application Deadline	1 March 2025	Open for	All international students
Discipline	Multidisciplinary	Cohort size	20 to 30 students

KEY FEATURES

Nature exploration in the heart of a Southeast Asian Tropical rainforest in Borneo

Immerse in the Sustainable Development Goals at Sunway City

Develop value-based high-impact innovative solutions for a healthier and more sustainable future

Fees include accommodation, tuition, ground transportation to study sites, entrance tickets, and some meals. Does not include round-trip airfare between the participant's home country and Malaysia, domestic airfare to East Malaysia, travel insurance, most meals and all incidental personal expenses.

Co - delivered by:

Planetary Health and Sustainability in the Tropics

COURSE THEMES

Sustainable Solutions for Issues in the Tropics

Field Trip to the Tropical Rainforest
of Sabah

Values-based Development

Exploring the Rich Biodiversity in Southeast Asia

People and Culture
in Southeast Asia

Economic Development in Harmony with Nature

Planetary Health
&
Sustainable Development Goals

Themes above are subject to change*

Those who successfully complete the programme will be awarded a Certificate of Attainment

*Terms & Conditions

Course commencement depends on reaching a minimum enrollment. If the threshold isn't met by March 14, 2025, Sunway University may postpone or cancel the course. In such cases, enrolled participants will be informed by March 17, 2025, and alternative arrangements, like refunds or rescheduling, will be discussed. Avoid purchasing flight tickets until confirmation by March 17, 2025.

Planetary Health and Sustainability in the Tropics

PHOTO GALLERY

